Centenary's New Head Coach

By Joe R. Carter, Sports Editor,
The Shreveport Times

Although he received his early athletic training at the University of Arkansas where he lettered in three sports, Curtis Parker, the new athletic director and head coach of Centenary College is regarded by Shreveport as its home-spun grid mentor.

Reporting to Centenary as a gangling young man, just out of college, with scarcely enough meat on his long, lean frame to help substantiate the many true stories told about his prowess in football, baseball and track, Shreveport has watched Parker grow into a well rounded figure, and with each added pound, and year of service, he has increased his ability as an athletic instructor until today he is nationally recognized, although his first season as head man in football is before him.

Parker knows no other home than Centenary as a coach. He came here direct from the University of Arkansas when his career as a Southwest Conference athlete ended. He was placed in charge of the first year football team. From the start his efforts were crowned with success. The task of handling the Freshman basketball team was assigned him, and again his efforts were rewarded.

Three years of faithful labor with freshman athletes won Parker the position of assistant varsity athletic instructor, and with this advancement later came the position of head basketball coach and chief scout for the varsity football team.

Success again dogged his trail at every step.

In the spring of 1934, nine years after Parker had walked, not so gracefully, into the office of the Centenary College athletic department, wild-eyed, and wondering what the future held for him, he had become the head man of the troupe.

As head freshman football coach, Parker gave Centenary a championship first year team; as head basketball coach he has presented the Maroon and White college with two S.I.A.A. championship teams, and one undefeated conference team in four seasons, and although his path in his first year as head football instructor looks as rocky as the road to Dublin, Centenary and Shreveport have faith in him.

Like the students he has helped develop, Parker's football knowledge has increased during his service at Centenary. He has been a constant student of the game, and to keep abreast of times has annually attended coaching schools to gain new ideas from the old masters.

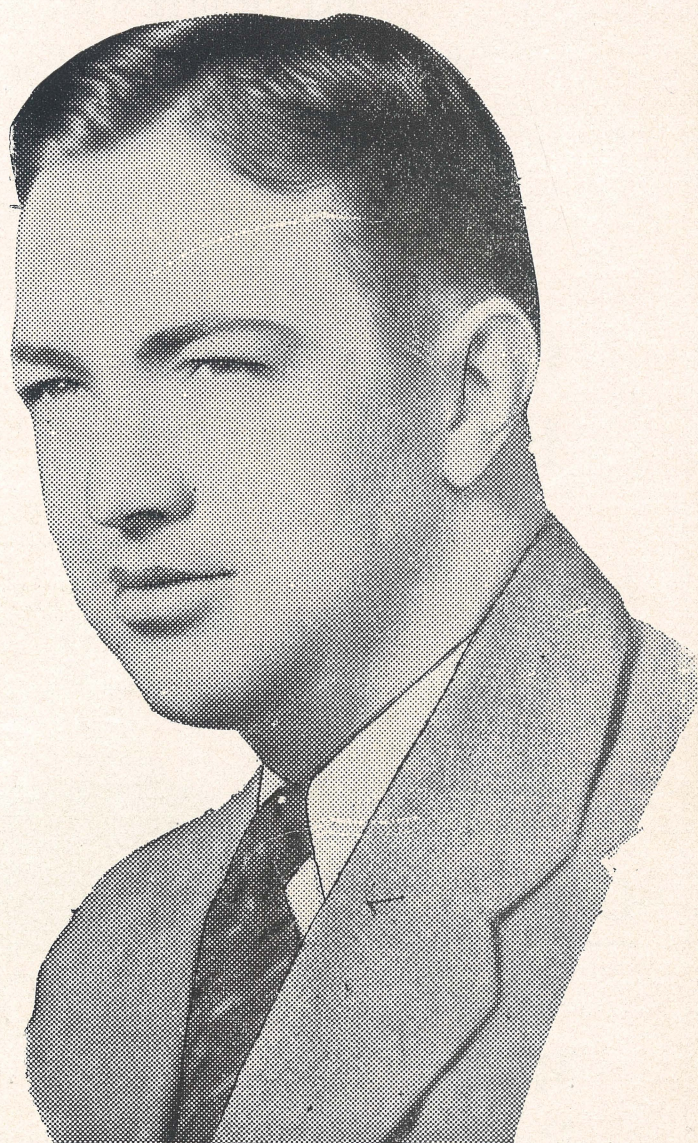

Parker has succeeded Homer H. Norton, whose success at Centenary since 1927 was phenomenal, and through it all Parker played a big hand. The early days of each week of the football season Curtis devoted his time to assisting Homer in handling the daily work of the athletes; the week-ends found him on foreign soil scouting an enemy, gaining data that would be useful to his eleven at an early date. As scout he was denied the privilege of seeing the Gents in regulation battle in all but about one game a season.

The new Centenary Athletic Director faces a major task in his first year as head man. Thirteen lettermen are lost from the 1933 squad, and in that group were three players of all-American rating, Paul Geisler, Manning Smith and Harold Oslin.

Of the squad of 38 invited to report for football training at Centenary this fall there are only nine seniors. Of the 18 varsity 1933 players returning only nine are lettermen. The first year men total 20, two being Junior college graduates.

Parker has assembled for Centenary College the same major grid program as arranged by Norton in other years. His early games are not with nationally recognized foes but the schedule includes Texas Aggies, Texas Longhorns, Texas Christian University, and Baylor Bears of the Southwest Conference, Oklahoma University, Tulsa University, University of Mississippi and Loyola University. Eight major engagements on a program of 12.

Coach Turpin and His Gang

Harry "Rags" Turpin, who has been a member of the coaching staff at Louisiana State Normal since 1926, has been promoted to the rank of head coach, taking over the duties that were formerly filled by Lee Prather, who now serves as athletic director.

Turpin learned his football at Tulane and Louisiana State Normal. He was a member of the Tulane Greenies in 1921. Playing against the University of Detroit that year he received the longest pass ever completed in the field of play. It traveled 65 yards.

With no rule against it at that time Turpin transferred to Louisiana Normal in 1923, and the following three years lettered in football, baseball and track, and was captain of the grid team each year. He joined the coaching staff in 1926. When Prather took over the duties of athletic director, he turned the varsity football team over to Turpin.

Coach Parker's Assistant

When Parker was asked to name his assistant in athletics he had only one choice, E. T. Renfro, and today Renfro is serving in that capacity. He has taken over the duties Parker cared for during the last five seasons, including that of scout.

Renfro is a graduate of University of Arkansas' athletics, but he served with the Razorbacks before Parker's time with the Cardinal and White.

Renfro gained the reputation of being one of the smartest quarterbacks in football history of Arkansas. As a coach he has mounted the ladder gradually. His first assignment was with the Jonesboro high school squad. He next became assistant coach at Hendrix college, and then head coach at Jonesboro A.M. He was "drafted" from A.M. by Centenary.

Renfro started his athletic career at the Waggoner, Okla., high school. He entered Tulsa University where he won fame in football, basketball and baseball for two seasons. He then transferred to the University of Arkansas.

COACH E.T. RENFRO

Freshmen Grid Mentors

For the second consecutive year freshman football players will perform under the direction of Ralph Murff, former star of the Maroon and White. Maurice "Kike" Morgan, graduate wingman of the Centenary team of 1933, is serving as Murff's assistant.

Murff is well qualified to teach football. As a member of the Marshall high school team he won all-state rating as a backfield performer. During his three seasons with the Centenary varsity he performed brilliantly. He was a triple threat, and although only five feet six inches tall, and weighing but 150 pounds at the height of his career as a player was a fine defensive man, and a fierce tackler.

Despite an injury jinx that trailed him through his varsity career, Murff played in almost every game, and his hard work won him the name of the "Little Bull."

Morgan played football with the Warren Easton High school team of New Orleans, and the Morgan City high school squad. When he reported to the Centenary varsity he found the field crowded with such stellar wing players as Clyde Lee, Wood Osborne, Charlie Pattison and Melford Allums, and it was not until late in his junior season that he began to attract attention. He was a regular in his senior year, and proved a stellar defensive player.

In the spring of 1934 he assisted in drilling the varsity candidates and is shaping up well this fall for his duties as assistant to Murff.

NEW RULES

By Joe R. Carter, Sports Editor, The Shreveport Times

Football fans should become air-minded this fall.

While making no drastic changes in the rules, those responsible for the laws of the game have lifted a load from forward passing, and overhead attacks should be attempted more frequently.

The first move toward helping the forward passer is the change in the dimensions of the ball. The pigskin this season will be smaller, and thus easier to handle. It will be one inch less in circumference around the short axis.

The old rule that called for a five-yard penalty for each incomplete pass after the first in any series of downs has been removed.

To encourage more shots at the goal line through the air a new rule is that the first incomplete pass into the end zone will count only the loss of a down, unless the attempt is made on a fourth down.

Under the new rules also comes the change that says "any forward pass which becomes incomplete by striking an ineligible player inside the opponents' 10-yard line may be a touchback if the opponents so elect."

Protection is to be given the passer, and will probably curb the tactics of rushing the man tossing the ball. Running or diving into or throwing oneself against a player obviously out of the play, before or after the ball is dead, will result in the loss of 15 yards.

While rule changes for forward passes will help the aerial game it will also serve to benefit the running attack near the goal line, where the defense will have to be on guard for short throws into the end zone. The rule makers have clarified the one against crawling,

FORECAST

By OTIS HARRIS, Sports Editor, Shreveport Journal

They'll stand up and cheer what amounts almost to a new Centenary football team this season when the maroon-clad Gentlemen round the turn that leads to the battlefield, and what consequences must be suffered as a result of the loss of a dozen letter-men from the 1933 team remains for future determination.

The fortunes of a reorganized coaching staff and a reorganized football squad are in the laps of the gods, and subject to the whims of fickle gridiron fates, but one thing is certain: Characteristic Centenary spirit that for years past has made molehills out of football mountains still exists, and if this pronounced Centenary quality can have anything to do with the ultimate outcome, it won't be a lagging Maroon and White team that emerges on Thanksgiving day from a 12-game schedule surcharged with the typical high explosives the Gents usually handle as a matter of pigskin routine.

The 1934 edition of a team that went through two seasons without a defeat, meanwhile playing 21 games, is a mystery team in every particular; green as a gourd in spots, but one that seems to have absorbed the intricacies of varsity football without difficulty. The expressed attitude of the players is that they are not going to let down a town that has accustomed itself to victorious football exploits, and since they are going to be the doctors, that attitude is certain to be reflected in their deportment upon the gridiron.

Opening today with Normal, the Gentlemen have not concerned themselves with the possibility of an upset. They reason that the Centenary teams of recent years have never had to take the backwash of the Demons, and that this would be a poor time to start any backtracking. True, Normal usually scores, but it is equally true that Centenary invariably turns on just a little more scoring pressure to forestall a scar upon its record.

The Normal array is more powerful than ever this year, and talk coming up from Natchitoches became more and more ominous as the day of the game approached, but unless the Gents are to become victims of a jarring upset that would echo all over the southland, Centenary ought to pin back the Demon's ears.

NEW RULES

holding it is good only when the player has been downed. If a player who is on his feet persists in breaking away he is to be held responsible only for delaying the game.

Every effort is to be exerted toward a snappy contest and a change is made covering the delay of play.

Only 30 seconds will be allowed this season for putting the ball in play. Coaches who send in substitutes when teams are ready for play after time is out will subject their club to a five-yard penalty for hindering the progress of battle.

This season any movement of the body or arms by a single player or by several players in unison which tends to draw opponents off-side is to be regarded as a false start.

The most complicated of the new rules may result from the enforcement of the foul for a kicking team illegally touching the ball.

It is now a foul for a kicking team to touch the ball before the receiving one has had a chance to do so. Punishment is the loss of the ball, the same as in other years, but should the opposing team commit a foul while the ball is still free on the ground the kick is erased and must be done over.

Linemen moved to the backfield must put in full time there. A supplemental note makes it impossible hereafter to be in doubt, for a forward (this does not include the wingmen) moved to the backfield must not return to a line position during that game.

One change permits that on a punt for one player to drop the ball and the other to kick it.

Officials this season will not enforce the rule against "intentionally grounded passes" that fall into the end zone. For a team in the field of play it will be a touchback; for a throw from the end zone it will be a safety, if grounded back of the goal line.

Players who try to deceive an opponent on a fair catch signal will be punished for unsportsmanlike conduct.
